

Commerce ISD presents....

'Empowering parents and developing teachers for the success of African American students'

Dr. Mack Hines

6:30 p.m.

Wednesday, August 11

Mt. Moriah Baptist Church

1202 Champion Lane, Commerce

Because of the importance of seeing all students succeed, Commerce ISD is bringing back Dr. Mack T. Hines III, a highly sought after author, educator, consultant and speaker, to share his approach to building positive behavior and academic success within African American students.

Hines will conduct a workshop for African American parents. His presentation focuses on how parents can work with teachers to benefit their children, academically and behaviorally.

Please attend Dr. Hines presentation to learn how we all can play a role in student success.

Working together with Exemplary Expectations